The Future Leaders is a committee of young members who are jointly involved with the executive of the BPSU, to ensure a future for the trade union movement.

Some of the goals and events that the committee is involved in are:

- To organize and recruit future leaders into the union.
- To ensure that workers are properly represented and to increase their participation at all levels of the trade union movement.
- To organize social, cultural, and sports events.
- To increase the awareness of the BPSU to the young workers of the organization
- To educate the young workers about their rights, trade unionism and proper work ethics
- To network with other Union Youth Arms globally.
- To participate in various community events to make the Future Leaders more visible in the community

The Future Leaders Committee consist of BPSU members 35 years old and younger.
